Bring Them Home And Put Them On The Mexican Border!

The brave men and women who serve in our armed forces are the victims of a deadly conflict of interest. Millions of Third Worlders are invading the U.S. through Mexico, while the blood of our sons and daughters is spent protecting the borders of a foreign, hostile country. We now know the "weapons of mass destruction" excuse for war was an outright fraud. We also know the war wasn't about oil: Without the war, the flow of oil would be greater than it is now, and costs to everyone would be lower. So in whose interests was this fraud perpetrated? Patriots and outspoken whistleblowers have been trying to tell us. Read on...

"If it were not for the strong support of the Jewish community for this war with Iraq, we would not be doing this." ~ Congressman Jim Moran, Reston Times

Why invade and occupy a sovereign country that had never attacked us? The answer: The desire to secure Israel held by powerful Jewish lobbyists and advisors who had wormed their way into the Bush administration. Paul Wolfowitz, Richard Perle, and other so-called neoconservatives had been lobbying for years, starting in the 1990s, to knock down any government that threatened Israel's dominance in the Middle East, including the governments of Iraq and Iran. When Americans were still in a state of shock over 9/11, it was easy to convince us that we were "fighting terror" by implementing this Israel-first policy. In reality, 9/11 had nothing to do with it. It was just an excuse. This war has hurt America and made us far more vulnerable to terrorism. It has bred an entire generation of enemies, millions of potential Osama bin Ladens. It didn't have to be that way.

"In the Mideast, terrorism is a separate problem to be defeated by diplomacy and negotiation, not militarily. Here, might does not make right -- right makes might. Acting militarily, we have created more terrorism than we have eliminated." ~ Senator Ernest Hollings, Charleston Post and Courier

Speaking of the neoconservative agenda to conquer the Middle East, General Anthony Zinni stated:

"I think it's the worst-kept secret in Washington. That everybody I talk to in Washington has known and fully knows what their [Jewish Neo-Cons] agenda [in Iraq and the Middle East in general] was and what they were trying to do. And one article, because I mentioned the neo-conservatives who describe themselves as neo-conservatives, I was called anti-Semitic. I mean, you know, unbelievable that that's the kind of personal attacks that are run when you criticize a strategy and those who propose it. I certainly didn't criticize who they were. I certainly don't know what their ethnic religious backgrounds are. And I'm not interested."

"The trouble is the way they [the Jewish neo-cons] saw to go about this is unilateral aggressive intervention by the United States - the take down of Iraq as a priority. What we have become now in the United States, how we're viewed in this region is not an entity that's promising positive change. We are viewed as the modern crusaders, as the modern colonial power in this part of the world."

~ General Anthony Zinni (Retired), chief of the U.S. Central Command and President Bush's former special envoy to the Middle East, 60 Minutes interview of 21 May, 2004

We agree. The Arabs wage war through desperate, primitive terrorism and the Jews wage war through high-tech terror and the corruption of the U.S. government. We want no part of their war. Millions of Third Worlders invade the U.S. through Mexico. But our government is being run by people who are more concerned about Israel's borders than our own. They have brought terrorism upon this country because of the U.S. government's economic, diplomatic, and military support for Israel. It's time to bring our troops home and put them on our own border. Join with us in accomplishing this great task.
